Original Gorochan is a very rare tantric animal product; it is found in the gallbladder of cow and is taken out from the stomach of the cow. Most tantric and vashikaran specialist consider it as traditional healers in tantric method and very useful in vashikaran.

It is also assumed a source of valuable medicine. They use it in both ways internally as well as externally in healing of various common diseases.

How to use

Gorochan is very powerful in vashikaran and people use it as Tilak along with chanting of some vashikaran mantra to get the vashikaran accomplished. To attract or get favor of any person mix it up with camphor and sandal and make a paste. Putting the paste as Tilak just go before that person and the person would get attracted towards you.

If you want to know how to use it properly in terms of vashikaran, you can contact our vashikaran specialist.

Benefits

Other important use of Gorochan is to put on forehead as Tilak. This Tilak gives positive energy and helps to accomplish the delayed work promptly, removes obstacles from the way and protects from all the bad energies of surroundings.

Gorochan is also used for Vashikaran purpose. It is also used to carry out any work without hurdle, if any work is getting prevented due to some reasons, it is very helpful and works well in that regard , to overcome obstacles and avoid delay in progress and get achievements.

अ धक जानकारी के लए संपर्क करें: +91-09582515505

Gorochan is animal part collected from the head of cow. The natives and traditional healers consider it very useful. It is also a source of valuable medicine. They use it both internally as well as externally in treatment of many common diseases. Gorochan a product popularly available in all herbal shops is an animal product and it is gall bladder of cow. Hindus always consider cow as a sacred animal by name Gomadha and pray it on a daily basis. The product from cow milk is also considered auspicious. If we go in detail major parts of cow, its products are found to have great medicinal value. Gorochan forms part of preparing many different tantric poducts. One such interesting product is the Vasyam Marunthu which has the potential to make others obey us. It is interesting to note that if we apply this as thilak on our forehead and we meet a person we can make them obey our orders.There is always a meaning in our ancestral tradition.

Gorochan is animal part collected from the head of cow. The traditional healers consider it very useful. The healers informed that Gorochan is not present in every cow. There are many symptoms by which the healers identify the cow having Gorochan in its head. Although in general the colour of Gorochan is yellow but during the surveys I have seen yellow Gorochan with pinkish and blackish spots. It is also known as Gopitta as it is considered as gall bladder of cow. When it is collected from cow's body its appearance resembles to the Mom (Wax) but very soon it becomes very hard. In the name of Gorochan, many similar products are available in herb shops but the traditional healers easily identity the potential Gorochan from their specific traditional methods. The natives engaged in Tantra activities are having special importance to Gorochan. It is considered as a sign of good luck and fortune. The rich natives are advised by them to keep it in their cash lockers. For the traditional healers of , Gorochan is a source of valuable medicine. They use it both internally as well as externally in treatment of many common diseases. Through the Ethnobotanical surveys conducted in different parts of the country, I have collected much information on traditional medicinal uses of Gorochan. The traditional healers recommend the use of Gorochan as beauty product. They advise the natives to apply Gorochan in form of paste all over body. After drying it is washed. According to the traditional healers its regular use improves the complexion of human body and gives new life to the skin. It is also considered useful for black spots. As Gorochan is costly product, the natives use it once in a month for this purpose. The healers have deep faith in this use. They have acquired this knowledge from their ancestors and practicing it sincerely without any modification. I have found this use in reference literatures related to different systems of medicine in India.